

Quick-Start for Impatients

Step 1

Before using Advanced Folio, you must have some blank, formatted disks ready. If you know how to format disks, and have at least one prepared, go straight to Step 2.

When you buy new blank disks, they need to be "formatted", which is just like getting a blank piece of paper and ruling up rows and columns, then numbering the rows.

To format a new blank disk, simply insert it in the disk drive and type

*FORMAT Ø L (Press RETURN)

then type

YES (Press RETURN)

The computer then formats the disk by laying out 160 tracks, 80 on each side. After formatting, it then verifies that the disk surface is all intact. If the verify fails, then try formatting the disk again.

Step 2

Insert your "C" Work Disk and boot it (Shift-Break). A self-cloning program then runs. The contents of the disk are loaded into the computer's memory and you are then prompted to insert your blank, formatted disk. This will automatically create as many work disks as you want.

Be very careful never to save anything onto your original "C" Work Disk. If you do, the cloning program will not work.

Step 3

You are now ready to start using Advanced Folio. Insert the Signature Disk and boot it. When prompted, insert your newly created work disk and you are ready to start writing.

ADVANCED FOLIO SUPPLEMENTS

Advanced Folio Font Disc 2

EDUCOMP is proud to present our ADVANCED FOLIO FONT DISC 2, containing 23 new print styles, bringing the total number of fonts to 50. If this isn't enough for you, we welcome your suggestions for more.

We have created and compiled a diverse range of fonts, some intended to be more suitable for headings, and some more suitable for body text.

For instance, this font approximates the style recommended in the NZ Handwriting Syllabus for Schools (within the limits of a 16x16 character grid).

All the fonts used on this page are from ADVANCED FOLIO FONT DISC 2, which is only available directly from EDUCOMP. Order below.

Concept Keyboard Editor

EDUCOMP has also written a Concept Keyboard Editor for Advanced Folio. By simply booting the disc, the editor installs itself automatically onto any Advanced Folio Work Disc. Order below.

Extra Discs

Any school which is a registered user of either Advanced Folio (3.5") or European Folio (5.25") may now purchase extra Signature Discs in either format. This means that a school with B's, Masters or Compacts can now run the program on all models. See below.
